WAIS Server for UNIX

The Way to Network Publishing

Enhanced search characteristics for greater precision and recall:

- Full-text search takes into account word frequency, density and proximity
- Weighted Boolean search integrates with free text
- Fielded search supports over 250 fields per database
- Relevance feedback expands search to find related documents
- Choice of two stemming packages
(search term "computers" finds "computer")
- Wildcards (search term "comput*" finds "computer", "computing", etc.)
- Customizable stopword lists
(words to be ignored when searching, i.e.: "the", "it", etc.)

Smaller indexes:

Index files are typically 1/3 to 1/2 the size of the data being served, without inhibiting server performance.

Open Protocols:

Industry standard protocols allow any network, whether private or public, to benefit from the use of WAIS tools. Search multiple servers, integrate with multiple clients, and update material on an ongoing basis.

WAIS to WWW integration:

WAISgate uses WWW forms to automatically generate structured Boolean queries. WAISgate also creates html pages as they are retrieved from the WAIS database.

A screenshot of a web browser window displaying a 'Query Report for this Search'. The report includes a title bar, a status bar, and a main content area. The content area shows the search query, its equivalent in WAIS syntax, and the database statistics.

```

  )
)

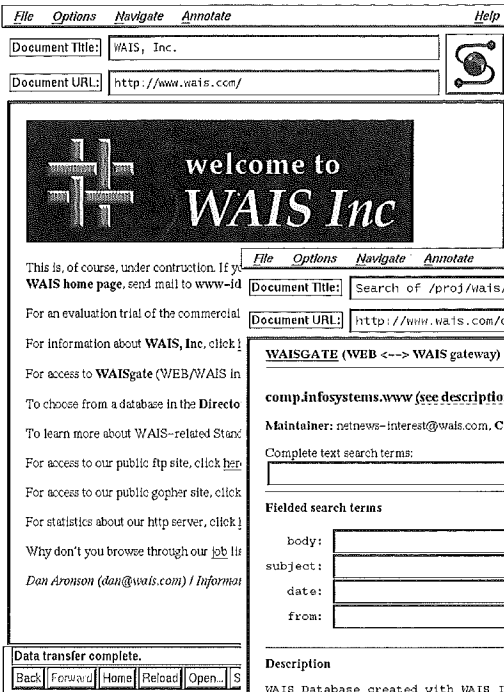

The database contains 6,201,573 words in 8,507 documents.
There are 305,837 different words.

Query Feedback:

WAISgate adds personality to your database

Customize entry points to your database

Customize forms and search results

Create html documents on the fly

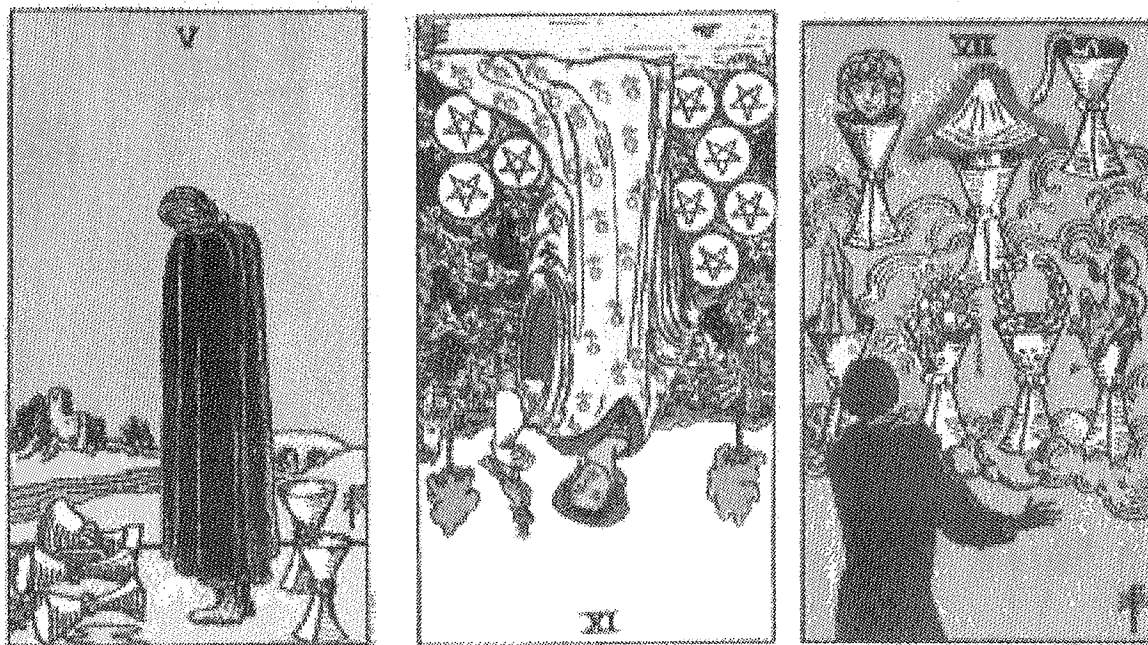

WAIS Inc. cuts the cost of serving dynamic databases to Mosaic users. WAIS Inc. servers and publishing tools save time and increase the value of your information.
